The ninety-sixth hour in the last Madison Square go-as-you-please, reached at midnight last night, found Jimmie Albert with 450 miles and one lap to his credit, and that was two miles and three laps better than the record made by Pat Fitzgerald in the record

The Quaker City boy had covered 102 miles and one lap in the fourth day. Fitzgerald covered 112 miles on the corresponding day in his race, but Albert had worked on a schedule laid out at the beginning of the race. He had followed his schedule, and in its performance had broken the record at every hour during the twenty-four.

Peter Panchot, the mail carrier, had kept within speaking distance for four days, and was at this hour 13 miles behind him; but yesterday's predictions of the experienced were to be verified soon. They had declared that the postman had been urged to his utmost to keep his position in second place, and that he must quit the semblance of a contest with Albert for the lead if he did not break down entirely.

At 11.25 P. M. Albert, having completed his 450th mile, retired for rest, and five minutes later Panchot followed him. Albert reappeared on the track at 3 A. M. Panchot was awakened soon afterwards, but it soon became apparent that he was in no condition to continue the struggle. After hours of painful locomotion the Buffalonian veteran was compelled to retire again, and when the light of day relieved the gas and electric light companies Panchot was still in his but. while Albert was trotting along in the third quarter of his fifth hundred miles.

Herty, in the mean time, advanced to second place, and at daybreak was already five miles in the lead of Panchot, while Gus Guerrero was more than a mile ahead. Herty might not retain his lead, the old heads said, for he was completely fagged out. liable to break at any time, but Guerrero was in better form than he was yesterday at the same hour.
It was believed that the Mexican would continue to the end, with the best of chances for second money, for Panchot's right thigh was in a painful condition, and it was doubtful if he returned to the track at all. The poor fellow was downcast and discouraged, but his trainers labored over him with rubbing-lights and lightnesses.

cloths and liniments, in an effort to return him to condition.

He had not returned to the track at 6 He had not returned to the track at 6 o'clock, when the score showed up 463 miles and two laps for Alberts, which was two miles and two laps in the rear of Fitzgerald's record for that hour. Fitzgerald had covered 465 miles three laps at the 192d hour, but the fact that Albert was not up with this record was not discouraging, as he was in much better condition than the Long Islander at this time. He walked or ran with a clean, springing gait, and carried himself erect. His eye was clear, he had slept nicely, his appetite was excellent, and he was in all respectation prime condition. He had followed his schedule perfectly thus far, and those who know him were sure that he would continue to the end on his schedule.

Fitzgerald scored only 88 miles on the fifth day, and that was the best that he could do. But Albert had fixed on a record of 100 to 105 miles for to-day and proposed to go to the matines to-morrow afternoon.

It was believed that he could do it nicely.

In the first three hours' work he recorded 18 miles. With eighteen hours left to him and his day's rest behind him, he expected to make 87 miles. He night do ten miles less than that and still best Fitzgerald's record. Wyat Collins had not been on the track in thirty-six hours, yet he had not formally withdrawn. Taylor and Stout had been off the sawdust for many hours, but were still as off and on, but really out of the race, Parson Tilly was in the same shape. Vint went to bed before midnight, and at 7 o'clock was still asleep. The following tables give the scores in detail: Score from 1 a. m. to 6 a. m. Albert played on a banjo for a little while Fight—Most of the Men Keeping the Track by Sheer Force of Will—The Austrian Sticking to It Deggedly—Stout, the Arab, Walking Merely to Win Three Bets—Mannger Hall Places the S1,000

Albert played on a banjo for a little while as he ran, and a colored man ran beside him and sang, much to the appreciation of the few stayers among last night's big crowd of spectators. Frank Hart, the colored boy, was still constant in his rapid, upright, springing walk, but spurts were out of the question for him. He will probably be in at the divided between vide, however.

at 11.30 r. M., and reappeared again but slightly refreshed at 3.10 o'clock A. M. He did remarkable work in the following hours, miles I lap in the next three hours.

the fight himself.

Herty's burst of speed mentioned above began when Panchot left the track. Herty supposed that he would return after the usual sleep, and he worked to reduce Panchot's lead over him of ten miles. But Panchot's old trouble with his left knee returned with the giving out of his thigh. He is racked with severe pains. The knee is badly swollen.

The probability of his covering even the

The probability of his covering even the 525 miles necessary to entitle him to a share in the gate receipts is doubtful. It was not thought at 9 o'clock that Panchot would return to the track at all. This poor fellow has a wife and a large family of children. Much sympathy is expressed for him.

Vim was injected into the men last night by Manager Hall. He came on the track and settled all doubts about the $1,000 which are to go to the man who beats the record by placing that amount in the hands of Referee Peter J. Donohue. Mr. Donohue called the walkers and told them so. If more than one man beats 610 miles the $1,000 will go to the leader.

His expression was painfully dejected, and he winced as he laboriously put one foot before the other. The spectators seemed moved to tenderness, and as Panchot slowly measured off the lap, there was oppressive silence among the onlookers. His second turn of the track was greeted with encouraging words, but uttered in the tone which one uses in condoling with a mourner over a coffin.

Panchot limped along a few laps around the track and then retired again, probably never to return.

the track and then retired again, probably never to return.

Pat Fitzgerald, the champion, is looking closely after Dan Herty. He insists that he will yet down Albert. Herty certainly is in much better form than he showed yesterday. Gus Guerrero is, as usual, a favorite with the ladies. Last night one of them presented to him a beautiful and expensive silk neck record-breaking between 9 and 10 o'clock, but not being aware of that fact, he left the track for five minutes for a rubbing. But he was only a 5 laps behind Fitzgerald's score for the one hundred and sixth hour at 10 As the race grows nearer the finish and

As the race grows nearer the finish and more exciting, frequent grows are heard regarding the score. Dan Herty's trainer. "Happy Jack" Smith, was particularly loud in his lamentations this morning. Herty was doing splendid work.

Happy Jack insisted that he was being cheated out of the laps by the man who kept his tally sheet. He declared that he would have somebody's blood if his man was not better treated.

ALBERT'S CONCERT ON THE TRACK.

Norman Taylor, the Vermont pie-eater, is fifty-eight years old. He was a famous fifty-mile runner twenty-five years ago. He tray-eiled 279 miles in this race in his stockings, but this morning he appeared after a long night's rest, in carpet slippers. He is not so badly broken up as might be expected in a man of his years. He walks with a firm though exceedingly light tread.

Merrit's Stout, the Arabian camel, came on the track at 8 o'clock, after nine hours spent in sleep. He wore shoes made with square soles from soft leather. He walked like a quail on a crust. The secret is out that he is found to the track to win bets made by his friends to the effect that he would remain the week out, that he would cover 300 miles and that he would be on the track nine hours every day. There is but little hope of winning the second bet, for the whitewasher had covered don'ly 171 miles at 8 o'clock this morning.

A curious phase of the race and the wonderful performance of Jimmic Albert is that albert did not enter the race. He had an entry of his own out of which he expected to make a mint of money. He had entered E. C. Moore, who is a Philadelphian almost unknown in pedestrianism. He is a friend of Albert's, and Albert expected great work from him.

He paid and is paying all of Moore's expenses. He was in the race himself only to set the pace and break up looming competitors against Moore's chances. He expected to retire in forty-eight hours, but his protege broke up and Albert was obliged to take up the fight himself.

only sixty miles for to-morrow's work, and he can attend the matine if he likes.

Judged when it is understood that, owing to a peculiarity he has of walking close to the pole, where the track is a little low, allowing his left foot to strike solidly, he has worked the old out of his hip joint, and the bones grate at every step. To walk is agonizing, and the poor fellow shows it at every more. He limped a mile and one lap in fifty-five minutes, and then was obliged to rest in his but hut.

The score at 1 P. M. was as follows: The record (Fitzgerald), 498.3; Albert, 426.1; Herty, 471.5; Guerrero, 465.1; Panchot, 444.5; Hart, 437.6; Golden, 425.7; Moore, 421.6; Strokel, 404.6; Noremac, 388.1; Dillon, 391, Yint, 296.1; Sullivan, 299.4; Taylor, 292.3; Tilly, 265.1; Collins, 223.1; Stout, 174.7.

At 1.50 r. m. Albert finished his 500th mile, and, with one lap more, he was up to Fitz-gerald's record for 110 hours. The band played lustily, and it seemed as if the people would never stop cheering. When Fitzgerald

ASSEMBLYMEN MEET IN THE PARLOR.

Packed in the Room Like Sardines-Sarenstic Hits at the Scuntors.

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD,] ALBANY, Feb. 10. - The Assemblymen have at last deserted their crumbling chamber. To-day they are, thanks to the churlish action of the Senate, packed like sardines in the Assembly parior.

For a half hour previous to the opening of the session the parlor was in confusion. Dutchess County Mase grasped the gavel and, amid side-splitting laughter, announced that amid side-splitting laughter, announced that there would be a joint session of the Senate and Assembly in fifteen minutes.

A shower of paper wads greeted this announcement. Self-constituted Speaker Mase ordered the Clerk to read an alleged communication from the Senate.

Mr. Sheehan moved to put it under the table, and this was done.

Jack Adams, of Newburg, moved to invite the Senators to dedicate the new temple.

The proposition was received with yells of derision.

After a while the Assembly settled down to business and transacted it as expeditiously as its inadequate quarters would permit. Mr. Sullivan's bill, which permits New York truckmen to stand their drays in front York truckmen to stand their drays in front of their residences at night, was passed; so also was Mr. Connelly's measure, which seeks to prevent the proposed Boston road from running through Morningside Park.

Late this afternoon Mr. Saxton offered a resolution that the committee appointed to request experts to examine the Assembly ceiling be directed to hunt outside the Capitol building for quarters. The resolution was adopted and lobbyists smile again.

Senator Arnold to day introduced a bill to make a misdemeanor to utilize on race tracks or elsewhere paper books or record for noting bets or registering pools. It collides with the Ives bill. Comstock is its author.

Senator Murphy introduced and got to third reading a bill to let the Corporation Counsel of New York confer his powers on an assistant in the event of disability.

Senator Collins introduced a bill to limit life insurance company dividends to 7 per cent.

"IT'S A REPUBLICAN BUGABOO."

What William F. Sheehan and Others Say of the Misappropriation Story. SEPECIAL TO THE WORLD.I

ALBANY, Feb. 10.—Regarding the sensational stories printed in one or two of the newspapers in relation to an alleged misappropriation of $17,000 from the Capitol Mainpropriation of $17,000 from the Capitol Maintenance Fund for furnishing the Executive Mansion, Supt. of Buildings Andrews said to-day that it was simply nonsense to say there was anything wrong.

"The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Speaker of the Assembly," said he, "constituted a Board of Trustees, authorized to expend, in its discretion, a sufficient amount to refurnish the Executive Mansion. It had the power to draw upon the Capitol maintenance account if it was required. The Executive Mansion is included in the list of buildings to which this fund may be applied. It is ridiculous to say there has been any misappropristion,

"It's simply a Republican bugaboo," exclaimed William F. Sheehan indignantly.

"Those are my sentiments," said Senator Cantor. "It is a yarn concocted for the purpose, if possible, of belittling the Governor. But there is nothing in it, in my opinion. The Governor has always been too careful about appropriation moneys to make a mistake in such a matter."

The Lieutenant-Governor said there there had been no meeting of the Board of Trustees in two years. He knew nothing about the matter except what he had read in the newspapers.

This morning the strikers are just as bad as ever. A dozen women armed with clubs stood at the mouth of the Middle Creek Mine and tried to prevent the non-union men from entering. A fight ensued, the women being successful in driving the men back.

The company's officers were then ordered out, and after a short but sharp fight drove off the belligerent females.

George Refuses to be Interviewed and Mo-Mackin Will Not Talk, Either-McCabe Calls McGlynn a Casar and Says He Has Presumed on His Real Position-Will It Cause a Split in the Party?

Dr. McGlynn's aggressive speech at the downtown Anti-Poverty Society meeting last night, in which he practically read Henry George out of the United Labor party and repudiated him as a political leader, has caused a great sensation in the ranks of labor. In the light of the priest's former close friendship with Mr. George, his statement that he can get along abundantly well without the latter, and that if Mr. George ever comes back to the party it will be in a much humbler position than heretofore, is looked humbler position than heretofore, is looked upon as a commencing sign of permanent hostility between them. It is the thin end of an entering wedge which threatens to split the party in two.

Mr. George, however, maintains his mental equilibrium in the midst of all the excitement. Several well-known Labor men called at the Samlard office this morning and tried to get him to say what he intended to do, but he declined to discuss the question of the Presidential nomination or the attitude of the party on free trade.

He maintained the same reserve when the reporters called.

Mr. William McCabe, foreman of the Standard and a prominent officer of the United Labor party, said:

"I think Dr. McGlynn has presumed upon his real position. He has no more right to speak for the future policy of the United Labor party than Henry George has.

"The fact of the matter is he has long arrogated the role of a Casar in the party. His priestly education has been such that he can't understand free discussion and the rights of a majority.

"He must be taught that laboring men have as great an objection to a pope and a propaganda in politics as he has to a Pope and propaganda in Rome.

"It isn't so long since we welcomed Dr. Mc-Glynn as the lieutenant of Mr. George and a helper in the cause. It seems he wants to be director and to have Mr. George as his humble assistant.

Notwithstanding all this the idea that the score is not kept honestly is erroneous. By scrutinizing the records the most sceptical will be convinced of that fact.

The walking was uninteresting to look at to-day, only the record being at all interesting. There were no brushes. The men simply kept on in their one gait in procession.
